AS A REMINDER OF THE SUCCESS of the May 10 automated polls, Smartmatic-TIM Corp. Asia Pacific president Cesar Flores invited Miss Universe 2008 Dayana Mendoza to Smartmatic as a "gesture of our appreciation" to the Filipinos.

The beauty queen arrived on Monday night for a two-day tour as Smartmatic's "ambassador of transparency." She greeted the crowd "Mahalaya" and later asked where she could get the best "bulbas" in town.

She also expressed interest in meeting President-elect Benigno Aquino III during her stop. "I'm trying to get President-elect Aquino to have an appointment with me. Maybe we can have lunch or coffee. I would love to meet him. Please just take a little bit of your time. I know you're super busy to say 'hi' to me. Now that I'm in the Philippines, I'd love to meet you," Mendoza said.

Aquino is the country's first Incumbent President-elect. In 2008, controversy loomed over Mendoza after she appeared nude for a jewelry advertisement. The following year she posed as a surfer in her Miss U swimsuit.

Only 17 days to go before GMA term ends

By Christine V. Esperto

THE FIRST FAMILY HAS DECAMPED.

Unknown to many and with 17 days to go before the end of her term, President Macapagal-Arroyo and her family moved out of their official residence in Malacañang on June 13.

The First Couple have since been living in their house at La Mesa, Subic Bay. In Queens City, they make the trip to the Palace only for official functions, according to Mr. Arroyo's husband, Jose Miguel "Biboy" Arroyo.

"We've packed our bags. We're not here anymore," he told reporters after attending an affair of the "Bagong Deklarasyon Sa Bayan" program of his PG (Pinas Goodness) Foundation Inc. at the ceremonial hall.

"We are happy to leave Malacañang," he declared.

He also said he would again go under the back to own his share in back pass (See story on Page A23.)

But to what he described as his last public appearance as the President's spouse, Miss Arroyo did not go out with a whimper. Asked if the media had scared him lately during his wife's presidency, he replied: "No, very unfair."

"The last nine years, I think it was very unfair the way GMA was treated," he added. "Our achievements were not highlighted. People don't know about our achievements, and yet the country did not go [into] any recession. The country did well, but people don't seem to know that."

Apart from that, Mr. Arroyo and his husband could have

SHE DIDN'T SHAKE HIS HAND and looked at her watch twice during his PowerPoint presentation.

But other than that, there were no emotional moments, just expressions of mutual admiration and a token of gratitude.

More than two months after announcing he would not back moves to install her as incumbent president, Philippine National Police Director General Juan Verzona yesterday thanked President Macapagal-Arroyo for the PNP's "transformation" under her administration.

Ms. Arroyo, in return, conferred the Legion of Honor on Verzona for his role in ensuring the success of the country's first nationwide automated election.

PRESIDENT-ELECT BENIGNO Aquino III wants only the best and brightest, which is why he plans to tap Jose Robredo, the first Filipino mayor to win the Ramon Magsaysay Award, as his Cabinet, possibly as police chief in the Department of Interior and Local Government (DILG).

"I am eyeing two positions for the mayor and one of the two is the DILG. He is a multi-awarded executive in Nagas and Naga, they do not talk of theories, they talk of actual accomplishments," Aquino said in a press conference last night.

Hot concerns for reporters came a day after an on-air broadcast was shot dead in Mindanao, making him the 10th journalist murdered since Ms. Arroyo came to power in 2001.

Dennis "Dino" Camaragosa, 52, of Surigao FM in Marikina City was shot dead by a lone gunman while hosting a singing contest at a nearby town's wedding police said.

Losing bet tells of post-election harassment

By Kristian L. Eder

THE ELECTIONS HAVE COME AND GONE, but victory and defeat-aggravated tensions and election-related tensions.

Conceal Lim, a defeated Duterte City municipal candidate, has accused the family of former Pangasinan Governor of harassing her family and intimidating her supporters before, during and after the May 10 elections.

Lim, a Liberal Party candidate, received about 22,800 votes in the last elections, about 6,000 less than Pangasinan Governor.

Karating Kuleling

In an electoral process she filed with the Commission, Lim accused the Pangasinan family of using criminal syndicates and rogue police and military members to commit atrocities in the last elections.

"The Pangasinan are the biggest leaders of the (alleged) Karating Kuleling crime syndicate until the video (showing) them for days in the past years ago."

She said outgoing mayor Aduana (Pangasinan), the father of Pangasinan Governor, verbally harassed her and ordered the physical assault of her supporters.

The Pangasinan also bought votes and threatened pro-LP voters who wanted to vote for Lim, she pointed out.

Lim said she was afraid that the Duterte family would use of her relatives to draw them out of Lim.

Lim, who has asked the Commission to nullify Pangasinan Governor's proclamation, alleged that groups linked to the Pangasinan family have been harassing her family's business and LP party president, even after the elections.

Retaliatory actions

She said these were "retaliatory actions" to prevent any LP leaders from "running against the Pangasinan in the next elections," she said.

Lim also accused her opponents of using a "threat" to force "Ginawaran" or "the election" of her brother-in-law's suit after the elections. This was done to scare the public and close their family into harassment, she said.

Meanwhile, one of the election workers who allegedly witnessed irregularities in the May 10 polls in Pangasinan has reported the irregularities to the Commission.

In a sworn affidavit and testimony to election workers (Luzon, Luzon, Luzon, Luzon, Luzon) and the Commission of May 25, he accused some individuals of using a military to bring in to force in the election along K.T. Lim (Duterte) in Pangasinan City.

One of the irregularities was a 40-caliber pistol and a 12-gauge shotgun, which were used in the election. The Commission is currently investigating the allegations.

No hospital arrest for Ampatuan Sr., docs rule

By Hans C. Carvajal

MANILA, June 14 (PNA) — There will be no hospital arrest for the alleged involvement of the Ampatuan family in the Marikina massacre, according to government doctors.

"It is our view that based on our findings and evaluations, there is at the moment no immediate need for hospital confinement of Mr. Andal Ampatuan Sr.," said Philippine General Hospital (PGH) Director Dr. Ricardo Barajas Stradcom.

Quezon City Judge Josefa Iñigo Reyes, in whose court the Institute of Forensic Medicine (IFM) of Ampatuan, several relatives and other suspects in the massacre are being held, had ordered government doctors to examine Ampatuan and submit their findings to her.

The court order stemmed from a petition by Ampatuan for hospital arrest, citing Marikina incident.

Ampatuan, the former governor of Maguindanao, his sons Zaldy and Abdul A., several nephews and supporters—177 persons in all—were charged with premeditated the Marikina massacre on June 23 last year when 57 people were killed.

The victims were members of the first Maguindanao clan, their lawyers, journalists and members who happened to be at the massacre at the victims when they were abducted and later executed.

Doc's diagnosis

Enclosed with Ampatuan's letter to the court were his diagnosis and recommendations of Dr. Juliet Belandier, a PGH clinical pulmonary specialist who conducted the medical examination of Ampatuan on June 8 in Camp Baguio City, Taguig City where the Ampatuan are being held.

Belandier had recommended that further tests be conducted on Ampatuan. Doctors said in his June 20 letter to the court.

"However, Mr. Ampatuan is not to be further evaluated in a hospital setting for other existing conditions," the letter said.

Belandier said that although Ampatuan manifested signs of "systemic hypertension" and suspected "chronic obstructive pulmonary disease," the symptoms were considered stable at the moment.

Cardiac status

He said Ampatuan's cardiac status needed to be evaluated further as his pulmonary condition could "indirectly account for his difficulty in breathing and the other symptoms."

Ampatuan, the doctor suggested, could go on regular maintenance bronchodilators to relieve the symptoms of his condition.

"A systematic with bronchodilator challenge would be able to document severity of any airway obstruction," Belandier explained.

He also recommended that Ampatuan undergo an assessment of his "hypertensive risk and yield Medline to rule out any gall bladder condition."

He said that as for the risk condition the Ampatuan cited in his petition for hospital arrest, he could apply relevant laws and rules without causing confusion or delay.

The Ampatuan camp was displaced to have chronic obstructive pulmonary disease by a doctor from the Perpetua Divine Hospital, where he was raised but much by jail officials after he complained of difficulty breathing.

Ampatuan has asked to be placed in an air-conditioned room as he has a respiratory condition.

SO THAT THE PUBLIC AND THE INCOMING ADMINISTRATION MAY KNOW THE TRUTH ABOUT THE PRIVATE EMISSION TESTING CENTER (PETC) DIRECT CONNECTION OF LTO

WHAT IS PETC DIRECT?

The Private Emission Testing Center (PETC) Direct Connection is an innovative way to prevent the Non-Appearance of Motor Vehicle for actual emission testing prior to yearly registration. It does away with middlemen in uploading emission testing results to the LTO's IT system. At present, Private Emission Testing Centers have to go through PETC IT providers in order to upload the data into the LTO IT system. The PETC IT providers act as middlemen in this system and charge P90 for each transaction.

WHAT IS THE PROBLEM WITH THE SYSTEM USING THE PETC IT PROVIDERS AS MIDDLEMEN?

- The PETC IT providers failed to stop the Non-Appearance of Motor Vehicles for Emission Testing Centers.
- PETC IT providers charge a fee of 80 pesos per transaction when it actually only costs 60 pesos to connect to the LTO IT system. The IT providers have a glaring mark up of 20 pesos per transaction.
- Many Private Emission Testing Centers (PETCs) have complained of Conflict of Interest against the PETC IT providers because these groups also own Emission Testing Centers and these PETCs get preferential treatment in the uploading of transactions.
- Many Private Emission Testing Centers complain of ridiculously high reconnection fees of up to 100,000 pesos imposed by the PETC IT providers.

WHO INITIATED PETC DIRECT?

The DOTC and Land Transportation Office (LTO), acting on reports of prevalent Non-Appearance of Motor Vehicles for actual emission testing as well as issues of conflict of interest against the PETC IT providers, instructed Stradcom Corporation to develop a direct facility which will do away with the middlemen and directly connect the emission testing centers to the LTO IT system. PETC Direct is presently in its pilot testing stage.

WHAT ARE THE ADVANTAGES OF PETC DIRECT?

- It eliminates the middlemen in uploading of transactions into the LTO IT system
- It ensures compliance with the proper emissions testing procedures and standards
- It is far cheaper and eliminates the unjustified profits of the PETC IT providers.
- There is no Conflict of Interest in the PETC Direct system

WHO IS USING PETC DIRECT?

100 Private Emission Testing Centers which are not owned by the PETC IT providers already use PETC Direct and are very satisfied with the system.

General acquitted of plagiarizing Army camp's designs

By Robert C. Santos Jr.

THE SANBORNIAN CLEARED OF GUILT and intentional design a military general accused of passing off as his own some architectural designs of a military camp sketched by a construction company eight years ago.

In a decision, the architect court's first instance acquitted of the charges former Army Chief of Engineers Maj. Gen. Sergio Canabarro Jr., saying the prosecution failed to prove the allegations against him.

The court and the prosecution failed to present the original copies of the architectural plans Canabarro allegedly copied and passed off as his own for the new location of Camp Diego De Noya in Cavite.

It said, "In the absence of the original of the subject architectural plans and designs, there is no basis for the court to conclude, with only the sketchy copies of the said plans and designs in view, that there has been a falsification of documents which was neither found or admitted."

The Office of the Generalissimo filed charges against Canabarro in 2000 in the completion of private company C.L. Simojon and Soledad S. (S.J.) Simojon.

The C.L.A. alleged that in 1998, on the request of the commanding general of the 31st Engineering Brigade, it prepared "various architectural and engineering plans and designs" for Camp Tivoli in Bulacan.

But the projects in Camp Tivoli did not reach through.

Thus, C.L.A. alleged it was supposed to determine that the sketches being used for the construction of Camp Diego De Noya in 2002, were made by Canabarro, since the same plans it had prepared for the closed Camp Tivoli project.

The company further alleged that the "falsehood" of the plans and designs had been allowed to be used.

To make it appear that the same were Canabarro's work.

However, the court ruled that the prosecution failed to present "evidence" to prove that the original marked copies of the architectural plans and designs allegedly falsified and used by Canabarro.

Instead, the prosecution only presented the blueprints of the designs during the trial.

Thus, the court said "The prosecution failed to establish by competent evidence that the sketches plans and designs were falsified as it should be assumed."

Binay, too, will take oath before Carpio-Morales

By Marvin Bordado

THE PRESIDENT-ELECT SUMAR Binay has decided he will take his oath before Supreme Court Associate Justice Conrado Carpio-Morales during the inauguration and swearing-in of President-elect Benigno Aquino III at the Quinsion Stadium on June 30.

Binay's spokeswoman, Lita Sumar, claimed the Aquino and Binay camps have been coordinating about "the two last-minute changes."

He said his Binay camp has been talking to Mar Roxas, the head of congressional and media groups of the Aquino campaign.

"If Aquino is talking to us with Justice Carpio-Morales, we'd also take our oath before Justice Carpio-Morales. It isn't as if the Aquino camp decided, would like to do it at the Quinsion Stadium," Sumar said.

"This is a sign of unity more than anything else," he said.

Binay's decision joined the new Chief Justice Peralta-Cruz as without any role in the inauguration of the country's new president.

Aquino and Binay have both signed Carpio-Morales to be the first to take the oath on June 30. Binay's camp said he has appointed by President Benigno Aquino III to be the first to take the oath on June 30.

On June 29—despite a Supreme Court decision compelling high court justices from the Binay camp to resign.

They have chosen to resign. One of the justices of the Binay camp, Justice Peralta-Cruz, has chosen to take the oath before Mar Roxas, who also resigned from the high court.

Justice Peralta-Cruz, Binay's media officer, said Binay will not only take his oath at the Quinsion Stadium on June 30 but also at the Quinsion Stadium on June 30.

at the same time as Aquino. He said Binay will also be attending Aquino's inauguration at the Quinsion City Municipal Convention Center.

Binay has only endorsed his elected victory with a simple "Mabini" comment. During Mabini's last night, Binay's victory parade and fireworks display were at Mabini's camp. Binay's camp said he will be at the Quinsion Stadium on June 30.

Binay's camp will hold a press conference with Binay's wife and Binay's children at the office of the Binay President in Pinar del Rio.

De Castro has said that he would let Binay to continue his activities for the inauguration and for the welfare of the Binay campaign workers.

A congratulatory letter, De Castro expressed confidence that Binay would continue to have a role in the office of the Binay President.

After campaigning against him, Chiz willing to make up with Mar

By Christine D. Amador

SEN. FRANCIS CHIZARDIN is open to a second move by President-elect Benigno Aquino III to pitch Binay up between him and Sen. Mar Roxas. Aquino, however, has not yet made any presidential running mate.

In a last message, Chizardin said it would not be a problem with him as he "never fought Binay to be his running mate."

"Chizardin is not and we should move much together so that we can move forward in nation-building," he said.

Chizardin had campaigned for Binay President since Aquino Binay and there are claims that the two were of the factors that helped Binay defeat him.

Meeting with Mar

Chizardin said that Binay's meeting Mar is a move of Binay to be elected President from the 2010 presidential race which Binay lost to Aquino.

According to press reports, Chizardin had sought a meeting with Aquino at the latter's house in the exclusive Pinar del Rio 2010 presidential race which Binay lost to Aquino.

NPA frees 4 soldiers

MANILA CITY—THE NEW PEOPLE'S Army (NPA) on Tuesday fully released the four government soldiers it had seized in Benguet's valley over a month ago.

After months, spokesperson of the NPA-Cebu/Manila (NPA-CM), said, said the release was in recognition of the appeals made by the families, religious groups and personalities, well-known individuals and progressive groups in their behalf.

"The NPA accepts the released POWs, prisoners of war, the desire to protect themselves in a manner respectful of the people, against the international law of war. Their arms and accessories should also serve as a warning to officials and elements of the AFP Philippine National Police and their intelligence and paramilitary units," Gabon said during the release-diffusion forum.

The four—Corporal Juan and Aragon, 34; Aragon and Eduardo Abila and military Unit 100—were to be freed last week but the NPA, said a military paper when put in the way.

Crises

The soldiers were attending the birthday party of Aragon's son in Marikina city on May 12 when they were seized, "the crisis against the crisis."

Capt. Emmanuel Gabon, High Industry Division public affairs officer, said the military welcomed the newly acquired freedom of the four government "prisoners" but called their release "proof of the undeniable capability of the NPA and its power to liberate the Communist Party of the Philippines, in conducting crises against the people."

"It also confirms the NPA's direct violation of the Comprehensive Agreement on Respect for Human Rights and International Humanitarian Law (CARHIL) and protection laws of the land," Gabon added.

End of ordeal

The release ended the 31-day ordeal of the soldiers' families who had sought the local Catholic Church's help in appealing to the rebels.

On the eve of the release, some 300 church members led by Great Bishops, Juan Abila and "Catholic" priests—the women of the church and their—held a prayer march around Marikina to pray for their freedom.

Gabon said the soldiers were treated humanely provided by an association and their rights were respected while in rebel custody.

"I'm just shocked to be treated as prisoners of war. I also want to thank the NPA for not hurting us, although the time was spent with them was difficult," Juan said.

Gabon said the four would be taken to the military hospital in Davao City for medical tests and would be released afterward.

Before heading for the hospital, the four stopped by the office of Mayor Enrique "Enk" Dula Malabanan here to thank him for his help. Privation Lim and Jeffrey Reyes, Enquirer Manila bureau

SLEx-Star connection completed

THE LONG-DELAYED MERGER OF THE South Asian Express (SLEx) was unveiled yesterday by the Manila-based South Asian Express Corp. (SAEC) which is now completed the deal.

The 302 members link SLEx to the Southern Tagalog Animal Feed (STAF) and said that one through the province of Cebu, Laguna, Batangas, Iloilo and Quezon—collectively known as Calabarzon.

It is expected to be agreed as soon as the project gets a safety certification for its independent consultant, said the SAEC, the company which holds the 30-year contract to develop and operate the SLEx.

SAEC's sister company, the Manila Toll Expressway System (METS) took over the operations of SLEx last May.

SAEC, which is currently in the process of merging with the public to meet all the needs of the people, has a public-private partnership (PPP) to build a toll road in the region.

Unused power hikes Mindanao rates

Firm collects 600% more in 'ancillary' charges

DAGADAGAN CITY—Electricity costs shot up in Mindanao amid debilitating brownouts because the company in charge of transmission of power on the island and in the rest of the country had to raise fees to 600 percent reserve power that wasn't used.

Mercury went from 100 to 600 percent in the last 12 hours, according to a report from the National Grid Corp. of the Philippines (NGCP), over electricity costs that kept increasing due to the supply of power being disrupted.

During these months, daily power shortages in Mindanao reached 12 hours because the island's independent power producers were operating at half their capacity as a result of the dip.

P210Wh/hrs
Despite the shortages, however, Mindanao power consumers discovered that their bills were skyrocketing. Many were surprised to discover that they were being charged P210 more per kilowatt hour.

Power utilities, such as the Mindanao Development Electric Corp. (MDEC), said the increase in rates is as much as P9 per kilowatt hour was due to so-called ancillary charges that the NGCP has been collecting.

The NGCP admitted that an ancillary service had been used

Watchdog says illegal loggers back in Aurora

CITY OF SAN FERNANDO—Timber guards in Aurora have been using the operations of a logging company there as cover to bring out illegally cut timber from the Sierra Madre mountains, an official of the non-government Task Force Sierra Madre (TFSM) said on Monday.

In Pinar, Marikina, TFSM president, and timber, especially spotted by producers and bringing the timber, have been using the company to transport timber to the market. The timber, he said, have been transported there with the departure schedule of trucks of the San Roque Sawmill Corp. (SRSC).

Lawrence, who came on the heels of a timber operation in the Sierra Madre mountains, found that the SRSC, which was operating in the area, had been cutting down trees in the area.

He said the SRSC has been cutting down trees in the area, and that the company's operations are illegal.

Artist's way of helping dolphins: 23,000 images

By Cath P. Gomez
Inquirer Reporter

RAVENSCLIFF CITY—An artist is in a mission to paint at least 23,000 images of dolphins in public places in the country to protect the endangered species.

He said he took on the task to protect the endangered dolphins in Taguig, after watching a documentary on them.

Every September, hundreds of dolphins visit Lito's to swim in the bay and play with the dolphins. He said he took on the task to protect the endangered dolphins in Taguig, after watching a documentary on them.

'Beat LA' easier said than done

Rivers: We're going to have to beat them at their best

LOS ANGELES—WHEN THE CRITICS wrapped up issue 5 and named one actor away from an unprecedented 10th championship, the pitiful Boston crowd sent them off to the West Coast for the final time this season with one last shower of that age-old "Boyz n the City" shame.

Although Kevin Costner and his numerous appreciative fans suggested they leave it rest, it should be said here—particularly in the shadow of the Boyz n the City crowd—

"They're playing at home. Home is always where your heart is," Garneau said. "With the exception of the series, it's almost an odd one."

Then, after winning three of the earlier last four games, and compiling the NBA's second best road record in the regular season (26-17), the Celtics quit by falling into thinking they've won the playoffs on their own.

"The Lakers... got homecourt advantage and we've played the best all year on the road," Watson-coach Jay Wright said. "We're going to have to beat Ohio at their best, because they're going to be great there, and we can't expect anything else."

Same woes as classes resume

By Nancy C. Camajal, Jeannette L. Alarado, Nina Collazo and Beverly T. Nolasco

EXCEPT FOR THE USUAL PROBLEMS such as the lack of classrooms, late enrollment and heavy traffic, yesterday's opening of classes in Metro Manila public schools went smoothly, according to the police.

Brig. Rommel Miranda, National Capital Region Police Office (NCRPO) spokesperson, said that as of 2:30 p.m., he had yet to receive any report on classroom incidents near schools and universities in the metropolis.

"The only reported incident was a student rally at Marikina. But it ended peacefully," Miranda said.

In Commonwealth Elementary School in Quezon City, the only problem that officials encountered was caused by parents refusing to leave their children in their cars on the first day of classes.

"It was day one. We expected problems but not this the parents," Yolanda Mañalac, the school principal, told the Inquirer.

According to him, a group of parents gathered on the school gate and caused the gridlock as they after they were denied entry into the school grounds.

Mañalac said the parents were barred from accompanying their children inside the school to avoid disrupting classes.

"We informed their enrichment, especially the first grade parents, but the safety of the children is paramount," he explained.

Mañalac said that as the morning dawned, 8,377 schoolchildren enrolled in the school although the figure was expected to rise with more late enrollees expected to be accommodated. "The school has the one of the largest populations of elementary students nationwide."

"We cannot allow a big crowd inside the school grounds," he added.

Mañalac later held a dialogue with some of the parents during which both sides agreed that the latter would be allowed entry into school grounds at least 30 minutes after the start of classes to avoid disrupting classes.

GULF OIL SPILL

Obama bids to curb political damage

DASS CHRISTIAN, MISSISSIPPI—PRESIDENT Barack Obama headed to Florida on Tuesday after promising that life would return to normal for people on the stricken Gulf Coast.

In a post, oil giant BP promised to contain three times as much oil spilling from a ruptured well as by the end of June.

Obama plans a national oil spill later on Tuesday on the worst environmental disaster in US history. On a trip to Mississippi and Alabama on Monday, he assured Americans that the government will "leave the Gulf Coast in better shape than it was before."

BP announced it could stop a maximum of roughly 2.2 million gallons of oil daily by the end of June as it deploys additional containment efforts, including a notion that could start limiting oil run quantities as early as Tuesday.

Shortcuts, blunders

But in economic development on Monday, documents revealed that BP made a series of compromising shortcuts and blunders that dramatically increased the danger of a disastrous spill from a well that its engineers consistently described as a "nightmare" just six days before the blowout in the Gulf of Mexico.

Investigators found that BP was badly behind schedule on the project and losing hundreds of thousands of dollars with each passing day and impeded by engineering problems with design, contracting and drilling mud, ethics and the regulations they safety devices.

The US House Energy and Commerce committee released dozens of internal documents that outline several problems on the day-to-day life in the days and weeks before the April 20 explosion that killed 11 workers and on its industry this catastrophe. The committee has been investigating.

"Time after time, it appears that BP made decisions that increased the risk of a blowout to save the company time or cut costs. It did so when it happened, BP's carelessness and complacency have inflicted a heavy toll on the Gulf, its inhabitants, and the workers on the rig," said Democratic Representative Henry A. Waxman, author of the bill.

New steps

During his visit to the oil spill on Tuesday night, Obama plans extensive new steps to restore the Gulf Coast ecosystem, according to a senior administration official who spoke on condition of anonymity.

"I can't promise things that the oil will be cleaned up overnight. It will not be," Obama said during a speech in St.

disaster. But, he added, "things are going to restore normal."

Nonetheless, though, were skeptical that the economic and environmental devastation would improve anytime soon.

"I think that as long as BP is still in control, there's not a lot he can do other than show support for the residents of these Gulf states," American Justice, 34, of Long Beach, said on Thursday.

Watching oil flow through Florida Bay in Alabama's Gulf Coast, former Navy firefighter Clayton Arnold said he wished Obama would break up the coalition command responding to the crisis and let local governments handle a more serious emergency.

"It's just a huge bureaucracy that's slowing things down. We want to stop the oil from flowing but we can't do anything," Arnold said.

Worst-case scenario

The breached well has leaked as much as 115 million gallons of oil into the Gulf since the worst-case scenario described by scientists—a rate of more than two million a day. BP has collected 5.4 million gallons of oil through its lower containment cap on top of the well, or about 100,000 gallons per day.

"It may never hit shore, BP would continue to splash off the flow from a containment cap sitting down the well in a drill ship sitting on the ocean surface. More oil from the blowout pressure—a stack of pipes sitting on the surface—also would be drawn through hoses and pipes in a drilling rig where it will be burned using a specialized flame.

Still, BP wanted to contain more oil than could be burned off before its piping and its rig-governed system to run the complicated collection system.

Also, BP spokeswoman Bill Lubitz said that the company had removed all well access from the coast and closed the flow to the sea. The decision would stop 57 million to 62 million barrels a day of oil from entering the sea, but was about 100 million barrels a day.

control and put them through testing, and the testing was done in shallow water and very deep water and we were very pleased by the results," Lubitz said.

Meanwhile, congressional watchdogs have identified several mistakes by BP in the weeks leading up to the disaster. In the design of the well, the company apparently chose a riskier option among two possibilities to provide a barrier to the flow of gas in space surrounding the well, but the well documents and internal e-mails show. The decision would stop 57 million to 62 million barrels a day of oil from entering the sea, but was about 100 million barrels a day.

Ted Kennedy was constant death-threat magnet, FBI files say

WASHINGTON—FOR DECADES after gunshots shot down his brother, Sen. Edward Kennedy lived under constant assassination threats of his own, sometimes directly specific, as he became a target for extremist rage, previously private FBI documents disclosed on Monday.

Five years after President John F. Kennedy was killed and shortly after Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was shot, new letters revealed that the third brother was just "Ted Kennedy No. 3" to be assassinated on Oct. 23, 1968. The Kennedy administration had no contact on the issue.

Nearly two decades later, in 1982, the threats continued, this time including the Republican presidential as well as the US Senate. "Dedicated assassin," "Bingo" was, "I'm gonna kill Kennedy and President Ronald Reagan, and I really mean it."

Releasing 2,352 pages from Kennedy's FBI file, many concerning threats over the years, the agency said on its website.

"These threats originated from multiple sources, including individuals, anonymous persons and members of radical groups such as the Ku Klux Klan, Minutemen organizations and the National Social ist White People's Party."

Some of the threats prompted investigations, most resulting in warnings to Kennedy or law enforcement officials.

There is no indication any attempts were successful. In 1977, the FBI even looked into allegations that Jeffrey Dahmer, the man who assassinated Robert Kennedy, had accepted a job as a fellow prisoner in St. Edward Kennedy. The prisoner, who was housed near in Boston for 15 months, told the FBI he was offered $1 million and was to be killed.

President Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas on Oct. 22, 1963. Robert Kennedy died on June 6, 1968, a day after he was shot at the Ambassador Hotel in New York City.

These threats cast a long shadow on the youngest brother's life, and prompted fear by, too, would be inspired by an assassin's bullet. Indeed, Kennedy was in a meeting "Ted Kennedy" that after his brother was killed he was really started by his death and would be the shock whenever a car backfired.

He died last year at 77 from brain cancer. Kennedy's widow, Victoria Reggie Kennedy, is fearful to comment on the document release.

Underemployment rate lowest since Oct. '08

By Rosend W. Domingo

THE NUMBER OF FILIPINOS WITHOUT WORK rose to 3.1 million as of April, up from 2.8 million at the start of the year, despite the strong economic growth in the first quarter of 2010.

The National Statistics Office said this was equivalent to an underemployment rate of 6 percent, the highest since April 2008.

The agency did not specify a reason for the climb in the underemployment rate, though it noted that the total labor force declined to 50.5 million from 50.8 million in January.

It said that underemployed workers fell to 6.3 million, or 12.4 percent, from 7.1 million in January. It was the lowest since October 2008. About 39 percent of the underemployed worked for less than 35 hours a week, mostly coming from the agriculture sector, it said.

The NSO said underemployment is linked with jobs but who want to work more.

Annual economic growth in the first quarter was a robust 7.3 percent, the latest since the second quarter of 2009, leading market and government estimates. Similarly robust growth in the January to March quarter was the highest in 22 years since the previous three months.

NSO Administrator General R. Arana said that across the regions, Metro Manila posted the highest unemployment rate at 15.8 percent while the Zamboanga Peninsula showed the lowest at 2.1 percent.

Arana said 52 percent of all Filipinos who had jobs were working in the services sector and 39.4 percent in wholesale and retail trade; again of motor vehicles and motorcycle, and processed and kindred goods.

Agriculture workers accounted for 12.3 percent of the jobs while the industry sector had 15.3 percent.

Among the various occupation groups, laundry and washed materials predominated at 22.2 percent of the manufacturing sector.

MWSS approves lower water rates

By Rita Y. Ochoa

THE METROPOLITAN WATERWORKS AND SEWERAGE SYSTEMS (MWSS) has approved a reduction in water rates from July 1 to July 31 in Metro Manila and nearby areas to ease the economic burden on consumers.

MWSS said it announced this to ease the application of the Manila Water Services and Manila Water Co., Inc. to cut the Average Consumer Differential Adjustment (ACDA) component to help regulate water rates.

Water rates will range from P6.00 to P6.50 a cubic meter.

Approved Manila Water disclosed last Friday that it was lowering its water rates by P0.27 to P0.29 a cubic meter, a corresponding decrease in the average all-in tariff by P0.30 a cubic meter for unmetered and P0.40 a cubic meter for metered consumers.

Unmetered consumers will enjoy a decrease in their monthly bills ranging from P6.20 to P6.70 a cubic meter depending on consumption and classification. Metered consumers will see a decline in their monthly bills ranging from P6.11 to P6.43 a cubic meter.

The ACDA is a pass-through tariff mechanism that accounts for foreign exchange losses or gains arising from the purchase of foreign dimensional commodities lost to the government as well as losses for service expansion and improvements.

Manila Water and Manila Water Co. Inc. said the ACDA on a quarterly basis.

The ACDA goes down when rates decrease to their monthly

Treasury bill rates inch up across the board

TREASURY ON TUESDAY MARKED 51-day treasury bills rose 0.1 basis points to an average 5.519 percent in yesterday's auction as interest rates rose across the board.

The yield on the 182-day bills also gained 0.1 basis points to 4.129 percent while the auction outcome reflected a partial award for the 364-day T-bill.

The one-year debt paper rose to the government's 4.564 percent or 7.4 points higher than the previous week.

Reaction to the outcome of the Treasury auction to under-offer for the year-long debt paper, the yield would have jumped by 11.5 basis points to 4.683 percent.

The Treasury ended up raising P6.3 billion instead of the planned offer of 10 billion during yesterday's auction.

Of the total, P4.5 billion came from the three-month bills, P3 billion from the six-month paper and P1 billion from the 12-month maturity.

National Treasurer Deborah B. Tan said yesterday's results indicated that investors were entering the market, saying to know the government would not let it if they asked for rates that were higher than those prevailing in the secondary market.

Tan said the next six-month averaged 4.15 percent, 4.5 percent and 5.507 percent, respectively, for the three issues.

Investment's portion, however, included a total of P7.32 billion, or more than twice the total offer of P3 billion.

Buyers received a total of P2.75 billion, or more than twice the Treasury's offer of P1.35 billion for the 91-day notes. But for the 182-day bills

RP used less official dev't assistance in Q1

By Ronald W. Domingo

THE AMOUNT OF OFFICIAL development assistance used in the first quarter went down by 34.5 percent to $467.73 million from $705.5 million reported in the same period last year, according to the National Economic and Development Authority.

Based on the NEDA preliminary

Neda exec says ODA disbursement down by 24.5%

ODA loans performance report, two programs loans made available through the Japan International Cooperation Agency accounted for half of ODA disbursed in January-May.

"A significant portion of the disbursement was largely allocated to a single water release of $146.03 million in emergency bridge support loan, and the third phase of the development policy support loan last month $59.36 million," said Roberto M. Flauto, director of NEDA project managing staff.

Flauto said the disbursement from project loans of the World Bank grew to $17.84 million in the first quarter, rising by 145 percent from $23.6 million a year.

He said the decrease in use of ODA funds was due to TP requiring loans having disbursement rates below 50 percent, aside from the country's small ODA portfolio decreasing by a 10th to $4 million.

Flauto explained that some projects are up relatively small amount of available funds because of problems related to delays in procure-

Safety first, flamboyance later

By Tina K. Salazar

YOU WOULD THINK THAT THE Dubai Expo on the back cover would attract a car that would reflect its brand of play. But go ahead and ask Chatterbox John Nandy-Dy this, or simply Chris Tin, what car he drives around town with, and you would be quite surprised.

But before we reveal what that car is, we have to reveal then who Chris Tin is, in and out of the basketball court.

Chris, an army follower of the University of the Philippines, is the celebrated guard (dunk player and shooting, among other things) and designer of "Team and soul" of the back-to-back UAAP championship Aramis under basketball team, since 2008. Chris is enjoying enormous popularity, even as a TV host of the highly rated GMA reality show "The Bachelor." "Bachelor" before "The Bachelor" and "The Bachelor" is TV.

And behind the automated Chris, there's a low-key dad who has been successful in his own right. Industrialist John Tin, still sharp in mind and body at 53, can be considered as a hardworking businessman as he runs one of the most locally recognized, very famous chain of Supermarkets in the Philippines.

During a meet-and-greet with the Tin's at a recent Tagaytay Highlands weekend, John Tin, who has been in the car world for a long time, shared more of the inner workings of this man.

Their focus is up, however, when they describe the dream they had when they were teenagers.

"When I was younger and in my driving, the car was not something that I really had in mind," Chris said. "It was not something that I really had in mind."

Pinoys join Shell's race for the future

AS THE THIRDSIDE PRINTER 1P format, Royal Dutch Shell develops Shell V-Power race fuel for the media, one use of victory Formula One cars. This I discovered when Shell invited me in April 2009 along with other selected journalists to watch the Shanghai Grand Prix in a guise of the "Pinoys' PT Paddock Club."

But before the finish line, the world isn't their only view. We are around some people called the Shell V-Power Paddock Club (VPC), the latest component of which will debut in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, next month. This oil major is also funding the development of cars, whether Formula 1 or prototypes in urban concepts, that will cover the longest distance on the least amount of energy. With the VPC, Shell aims to showcase innovation, resource conservation and foster the development of leading technology for greater energy efficiency and sustainable mobility said Shell's fuel fuel scientist, the winning global demand for energy and the problems associated climate change.

This time, the event at the Sepang International Circuit in Selangor, will not be a mere for speed, but a contest in fuel efficiency. Shell organized the first VPC in Europe in 1995 and in the Americas in 2007, challenging university and high school teams from all over the world to design, build and run ultra-energy-efficient, low-emission vehicles. The first VPC Asia on July 9-11 expects the participation of students from over 120 educational institutions from China, India, Indonesia, Iran, Japan, Malaysia, Pakistan, the Philippines, Singapore, Taiwan, Thailand and Vietnam.

Team Philippines

Philippine Shell Petroleum Corporation is leading Team Philippines comprising of three student teams with their prototype cars from three schools: The Ateneo Technical College Manila, the Ateneo Institute of Technology and the University of the East. They all designed and completed building their cars in seven months. So the students now focus, mostly with drawing blueprints, AGARD's 1/10th scale aerodynamic testing, the cars built by Mapua, UST and the three engineering schools are displayed.

Below, students and the presence of energy efficiency low energy and Philippine Shell Chairman and President Edgar Chua when the three cars were unveiled and their respective teams and "judges" were introduced to the media last Thursday.

The "judges" are former Philippine Shell executives who are experience, former country chairman of Shell companies in the Philippines and vice president for small operations. Last, it goes to the Mapua team led by mechanical engineering student Jonathan D. Serrano; Vice President, former vice president for manufacturing, it goes to the UST team led by mechanical engineering student Tim E. Crillo.

In the open forum, the judges said they had an 800 kilometers on a single tank of fuel as the target for the Philippine teams. Although only 100 km has been judged by one team so far, Team Philippines looks forward to complete trials at the first VPC Asia in Europe, the VPC has passed an international 3,771 km record, but then Europe has a 25-year head start and presumably greater financial resources and more advanced automotive technology.

Practical but never boring—the Japanese way with home design

By Alex T. Vergara

THE ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL situation in Japan may be far from rosy these days, but when it comes to designing products for the home, Japanese designers continue to break new ground with their unique sense of aesthetics and innovative approaches to design.

By combining traditional techniques with relatively new materials and structural advances, Japanese designers are able to create aesthetically pleasing and every-day objects that both works of art and conversation pieces.

Whether they're designing a new trash can, trying to re-lighten a room, more important designers always think it is a point to impart their creativity with a dash of wit, an homage to tradition and a nod to the environment. Practical and utilitarian, their designs are also quirky and never boring.

Practical but never boring—the Japanese way with home design

When it comes to home design, the Japanese are known for their practicality and attention to detail. Their homes are often minimalist, with a focus on natural materials and clean lines. This approach to design is reflected in their furniture, lighting, and even their architecture.

The Japanese way of life is deeply rooted in tradition, and this is evident in their home design. They value functionality and simplicity, and their homes are designed to be both beautiful and practical. This is why their homes are so popular around the world.

Check-clearing may become faster soon

I HAVE BEEN WONDERING WHY UNTIL now it takes a minimum of three working days before a check is cleared except for the bank's investment on modern technology from checks from the same bank are not cleared immediately that checks from the promiscuous deposited in Metro Manila but since we take about a month before they are cleared.

I found an advertisement of the bank of the Philippine Islands (BPI) saying its own checks would be posted almost like cash when deposited and would be credited instantly to the depositor's account. But, from experience, it did not seem to work that way.

The Philippine Clearing House Corporation is the sole clearing processor in the country

THE CONSUMER

Linda B. Buldo

In other instances, people are able to pay with personal checks for primary items because establishments can call up clearing banks immediately for clearance.

I sent my questions to the Bangkok branch of Philippine because I did not know if check clearing rules were set by the institution. Besides, I was in the domain of the Office of Supervisory Policy Development, aware to explain the current system.

The fact, while the BSP provided the general rules and regulations on check clearing and settlement processes for banks, "the institutions do not specify the general rules which the checks must also or be available for withdrawal since this is largely dependent on the check clearing operation itself," the Philippine Clearing House Corporation (PCHC).

The PCHC, the sole clearing processor in the country, had its own policies and procedures for nationwide check-clearing operations, San Pedro said. "The PCHC has established an Electronic Check Clearing System (ECCS) which provides an online communication linkage between the clearing banks and the PCHC."

The way I understood it, the system had sped up the process even allowing the immediate viewing of funds on the same day the exchanges were made in Metro Manila and some regions. San, San Pedro said, the ECCS system had not been fully implemented due there were still areas where clearing needs were not immediately known.

As for the same-day clearing of so-called "on-us" checks, San Pedro said BSP informed her that the policy had been in effect since August 2009, "unless there are certain impediments," such as temporary overload, delay, or other considered deposits as there is a difference in signatures." In such cases, BSP said "on-us" checks would be subject to PCHC clearing. Moreover, only BSP to PCHC transactions are covered so far, to checks from other banks like BPI from the bank will still be subject to PCHC clearing.

San Pedro said the bank's ability to allow same-day clearing for "on-us" checks would depend on the availability of the necessary technology to determine real-time balances of a client's accounts.

To learn more about the check-clearing operations of the PCHC, visit <http://www.pchc.com.ph>.

Feedback

Following last week's story on scams and hoaxes, Anne-Grae wants to warn readers about another scam, the one that got a new message saying, "Meet me here. I'll be there. My grandma's going to give you a job. It's a very important job along learning problems. It's not back." One did not feel back. That reference to "a little problem" was enough to alert her that the reader was up to speed.

She said the reader probably hoped the mention of a "package" would have recipients to reply to the message sender. Since she did not respond, she did not find out what the person wanted but she knew it was going to cost her. Grae pointed out that just one of those glibly people responding could already make the scam worth the reader's time and investment.

Myra H. Co said she personally knew a friend named Corina who was hit a new message informing her about winning a million dollars in the next 10 days. She mentioned her name. Co replied and suggested a meeting near the National Bureau of Investigation headquarters in Taguig. "He did not come back anymore," she said.

Saving 'Face'

Amy Perez deals with poorest of the poor, and mad men, too, on TV5 show

By Rapunzel San Diego Jr.

IN THE MIDDLE OF AN interview on the TV5 show "Face to Face," host Amy Perez says she realized that the lonehorn guest in front of her was "intensely disturbed."

What's a TV host to do? Should she (a) run for a momentary breather, (b) keep screaming or (c) call a psychiatrist and walk away?

In nature and on screen, Perez says she decided to "just go with the flow."

Have a talent?

After doing 50 episodes of the talk show, which mostly deals with the social and economic problems of "the poorest of the poor," Perez admits she has become "more tolerant" and "more honest."

She bids the show's back to school. Perez notes that the show's impact is "more than just a TV show. It's a way of life. It's a way of thinking. It's a way of seeing the world. It's a way of being."

That's the heart of the show.

Like the reality series that, unlike its US counterpart, "The Jerry Springer Show," "Face to Face" will not exploit its potentially sensational, unprovoked guests and, instead, avoid creating drama like those found in fighting circles in a fight.

Raw news

Unlike an Springer's show, Perez poses in a pool of reality series that focuses on legal, psychological or even spiritual counseling in the real world.

"My friends have done legal aid, they've done social work, they've done counseling in the real world," Perez explains. "They've done legal aid, they've done social work, they've done counseling in the real world."

Obviously the show has inspired a new wave, she says. "After two months on the air, people call to write to us to join our team."

The show has gained a following of 112 percent and 40 percent audience share and has expanded its reach to other networks, including the show's launch on the network and its launch on the network.

The big side of success, however, is convincing the show's launch on the network.

Usher surprised his kids love 'OMG'

Usher's 'OMG' was the song's success.

COMING SOON! Usher's Usher says he knew the best song would be a hit, but he didn't think it would make it to the top. The singer told the Associated Press the song he knew "OMG" would be "the craziest story" but he didn't know that many kids would love it as much as he and it's only begun.

The dancing dance was a produced by Usher and his son, No. 1 single. It's from his gold-selling album "Raymond."

Devised
The 36-year-old is the father of 2-year-old son Usher Raymond II and 1-year-old Nayeli (by Raymond). He divorced their mother, Toni Braxton, last year.

"Usher credits 'OMG' as the song's success. He says the Black Eyed Peas beat it, or always 'keep the beat' in the palm of the world to and what they're listening to."

A road movie worth all the trouble

By Michael K. O'Connell

"I DON'T EXPECT THE FILM TO WIN any awards. After all the trouble I went through making it, all I wanted was a good and decent film for my people," said Jim Jarmusch, director of "Coffee." Special Jury Prize winner in the 2009 Cannes Film Festival.

Produced by Wild Grape Pictures, "Coffee" follows the journey of Pedro (Jarmusch), a 70-year-old man, and Steve (Jarmusch), a young man working part-time as an FX driver, from Miami to Detroit in the film.

The road movie also won the Golden Globe for Best Actor award. "This film sold me that this story was made necessary by winning it for a dramatic role instead of comedy, which is a lesson for Jarmusch," said a group of people in the film, who clearly have a strong opinion on the local road movie in Miami City.

Miami went on to win two more Best Actor trophies from the Academy Award and the National Film Festival in Belgium and the Wisconsin Film Festival.

"I DON'T EXPECT THE FILM TO WIN any awards. After all the trouble I went through making it, all I wanted was a good and decent film for my people," said Jim Jarmusch, director of "Coffee." Special Jury Prize winner in the 2009 Cannes Film Festival.

Produced by Wild Grape Pictures, "Coffee" follows the journey of Pedro (Jarmusch), a 70-year-old man, and Steve (Jarmusch), a young man working part-time as an FX driver, from Miami to Detroit in the film.

The road movie also won the Golden Globe for Best Actor award. "This film sold me that this story was made necessary by winning it for a dramatic role instead of comedy, which is a lesson for Jarmusch," said a group of people in the film, who clearly have a strong opinion on the local road movie in Miami City.
